WE ARE WELL AWARE that the selection of the type of books that students are assigned to read in the junior high and high school classes is a controversial matter.

Some parents get upset when the assignments, in their opinion, are too mature for the student, even if it is considered good contemporary literature.

Others feel that the teachers should be in a position to judge what literature should be examined by the youngsters. Some maintain that "banning" certain books is a certain means of having them read by the teen-agers.

Nevertheless, the question of what books students should read is not a new development, although perhaps the contents of many of the modern novels of today that are on the assigned lists and meet with parental approval would shock people of a couple of generations ago.

What should be read or what should not be read by young people are two age-old questions that probably will never be answered to the satisfaction of all concerned.

We were reminded of that recently when we received the following letter from a concerned mother.

WE ARE PUBLISHING the letter without comment. But we imagine all of you have some ideas on the subject:

"Dear Mr. Vierhus:

"I am an avid reader of The Campbell Press and have admired the way you have "spoken out" in your editorial. I am writing to you about a subject I'd like very much for you to give some thought to and, if you agree with me (or disagree), possibly make mention of in a future editorial.

"My thirteen - year - old daughter is a student at Castro Junior High School which is in the Moreland School District. In English class the students have been issued paperback copies of the book, "To Kill a Mockingbird".

"It is my opinion, this book is excellent adult reading. This is a best seller novel by Harper Lee–a Pulitzer Prize Winner–but it certainly seems to me that the schools could find better reading material for young teen-agers than the story of a nineteen-year-old girl who claims, before a Judge and Jury, to have been raped by a Negro.

"Besides being a story of a rape, the book is sprinkled with four letter words which, again in my opinion, makes this book unsuitable for thirteen and fourteen-year-old readers, especially in the classroom.

"When I asked my daughter to be excused from reading or discussing this book during class, the English teacher refused, saying she would be tested on it just the same. I'm still debating what, if any, action to take from here and would certainly appreciate your views on the subject.

Sincerely,"

WHILE ON THE SUBject of changing times (we were, weren't we?), we learned recently that a woman counselor in a nearby junior college (not West Valley) has defied convention in a rather unique manner.

In her office she puffs away on a cigar or a pipe.

College authorities apparently feel she is doing a good job and that how or what she smokes has no bearing on counseling activities.

And, from what we gather, she has good rapport with the students she counsels.

Holy mackeral, we shudder to think what the reaction would have been thousands of years ago when we were in college if a counselor had acted in that manner.

In thinking it over, how

Father Bose pointed out that the Sunday Mass schedule will remain as it has been (7 a.m., 8:30 a.m., 9:45 a.m., 11 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. and 7 p.m.). He pointed out that confessions will be heard on Saturdays from 3:30 to 5 p.m. and from 8 to 9 p.m.

Averaging 7.5%

City employees get pay boost

Campbell city employees on Monday night were granted an increase in pay that averaged 7.5% over last year when the City Council, at a special meeting, adopted the classification and pay plan for 1970.

Under city procedure the pay plan is adopted for the calendar, rather than fiscal, year. The increase will cost the city $56,165 for the next six months to the end of the fiscal year and a similar amount for the second half of 1970 under the new fiscal year budget.

The city's budget for the 1969-70 year set up a reserve for the increase of $45,000.

In addition to the dollar increases, an improved medical plan for employees was added and it was also specified that overtime will be paid on a time-and-a-half basis instead of the straight time that has been in effect.

City Manager Bob Stephens also explained that additional benefits may be in the next fiscal year budget. These include an educational incentive program and improved workmen's compensation benefits for all employees.

Stephens said that the classification and pay plan was hammered out by two teams of negotiators after many sessions. One team represented the Campbell Municipal Employee's Association and the other the city.

Serving on the employees team were Dave Valkenaar, Jerry Eller, Frank Palermo and Don Stefani. Serving with Stephens on the city team were Wally Byron, Mrs. Catherine S. Green and Geoffrey Whitaker.

In his memo to the Council, the city manager said that the 1970 plan meets the policies approved by the City Council in 1968.

He said that the salaries will make it possible for the city to recruit qualified and competent personnel and will encourage competent employees to remain with the city.

At the same time, he emphasized, the plan represents a fair expenditure to the taxpayers, consistent with the city's ability to pay.

The plan was broken into four divisions: (1) classified employees; (2) management and confidential employees; (3) part-time and temporary employees; (4) classification plan amendments.

He explained that the classified employees as well as the temporary ones would receive more fringe benefits than the management group. Thus, the management group raises in dollars would be greater to offset that.

There are 15 positions now listed in the management category. All increases were approved Monday night except that of the city manager which was not listed in the 1970 pay plan.

The Council is expected to set the manager's salary in a separate action next Monday, Jan. 26, at the regular meeting. Stephens received $21,180 during the past year, or $1765 per month.

Management salaries that were set on Monday included Bill Wren, public works director, $18,780 per year going from $16,980 last year; Fire Chief George Maxwell and Police Chief John Morgan, $18,540 per year each, a raise of $1740.

Geoffrey Whitaker, finance director, will receive $16,800 this year compared to $15,120 last year. Art Kee, planning director, will get $16,200 in 1970 compared to $14,700 in

Tentative city hall plans hit Council Monday

Highlighting the City Council meeting next Monday, Jan. 26, will be the submission by Bill Hedley, local architect, of preliminary plans and cost estimates for the new city hall.

Hedley needs the approval of the Council of the preliminary plans if the deadline of March 1 is to be met for the calling for bids.

Complicating the matter is the problem of building cost increases. The Council faces the sticky questions of where to cut back to keep within the bond issue funds or where to find some extra money.

Other matters on the Council's agenda include first reading of four new ordinances. One of them, allowing for the conversion of residences into offices (now banned by ordinance) and recommended by the Planning Commission, was before the Council before. It was referred to Art Kee, planning director, for an addition that would give some control on the exterior designs of possible "converts".

Another of the proposed ordinances would change the city ordinance relative to backyard burning to comply with the new edict of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, which bans all backyard burning.

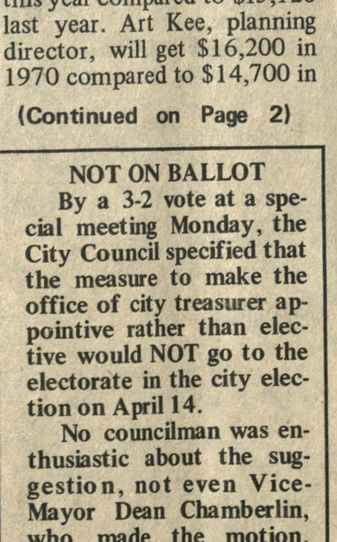
Another agenda item is a suggestion from the newly-formed Youth Advisory Commission that the present American flag in the Council Chambers be replaced with a more modern one. The flag on display apparently has only 48 stars.

NOT ON BALLOT

By a 3-2 vote at a special meeting Monday, the City Council specified that the measure to make the office of city treasurer appointive rather than elective would NOT go to the electorate in the city election on April 14.

No councilman was enthusiastic about the suggestion, not even Vice-Mayor Dean Chamberlin, who made the motion, or Councilman Ed Rogers who seconded it.

But the suggestion had been made and they thought it should be acted upon.



GOES TO CUPERTINO—Jim Duffield, manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce for two years (1965-67) and more recently associated with the Ainsley Corporation in Campbell as director of research and development, has been named the new manager of the Cupertino Chamber of Commerce. He will assume his new duties on Jan. 26.

In June, 1967, when Duffield left the Campbell CofC post, he was awarded by the Chamber the first "Order of the Bell of CampBELL", for his services to the community. He is the only person to have received that distinguished award to date.

City Council election

Homer Hyde bows out; Ralph Doetsch to run

ONE "YES" and ONE "NO"—Mayor Homer Hyde (left) this week announced that he would not seek reelection as city councilman in the forthcoming city election in April when his term expires. Councilman Ralph Doetsch (right) whose term also expires, on the other hand, announced that he would run again. Two councilmen are to be elected.

In a brief statement announcing his decision not to run, Mayor Hyde said: "Reluctantly because of the increased activity in my professional endeavors, I will not be able to devote as much time to city affairs as I think the City deserves.

"Therefore, I will not seek reelection for councilman in the April city election. I am proud to have had a small part during the 'growing up' period of Campbell, first as a Planning Commissioner and then as a Councilman for the past six years. I assure all citizens of my native community that I will continue to assist in any way I can in the building of a better Campbell."

In announcing that he will seek his third term as councilman in April, Doetsch said: "I have thoroughly enjoyed serving the people of this community as their councilman during the past eight years. I have always endeavored to serve ALL the citizens to the best of my ability.

"During the eight years that I have been on the City Council, much of the groundwork has been laid for projects that will materialize in the near future. I would like to be a member of the City Council when many of these "dreams", that we have planned for so long a time, will finally come true."

City firemen to join union

Because they are allegedly dissatisfied with the present working relationship with Fire Chief George Maxwell, a majority of the Campbell firemen voted last week to form their own local union and affiliate with AFL-CIO, according to the city employee's newsletter issued this week.

The firemen indicated that they felt by unionizing they can improve the conditions.

The new organization will be called Campbell Firefighters Local No.— and will be affiliated with the International Association of Firefighters AFL - CIO - CLC (Canadian Labor Council), the Federated Firefighters of California and the Professional Firefighters of Santa Clara County.

Although the firemen will be the first group of city employees to seek union affiliation, it was pointed out that every other fire department in the county has already been unionized.

Officers of the new group include, Jerry Eller, president; Jean Murdock, vice-president; Rick Kincaid, secretary-treasurer. The local has set February 1, 1970 as effective date of organization.

At the meeting when the vote was taken, 14 firemen were present.

It is expected that one of the next steps to be taken by the new organization will be to submit a request to City Manager Bob Stephens, as specified in city policy, that the union be recognized as a bargaining agent for the firemen.

At the present time, the Campbell Municipal Employees Association is the only group that is recognized.

Non-conforming use question delays action on third screen

Here we go again – from a new angle.

Would that proposed third screen for the Winchester Drive-in Theater be a non-conforming use, even if it were located in the proper zone?

That brand-new question popped up for the first time at the Planning Commission meeting Monday night to complicate an already involved issue even more.

As a result, the pesky problem of what to do about that land-locked parcel adjacent to the Winchester Drive-in Theater, and owned by the theater operators, will be around for at least another month.

The Commission decided to postpone action on the zone change request until Feb. 16 to give City Attorney Joe Bonacina time to research the question, which had not been raised before, of whether the drive-in theater was even now a non-conforming use.

Commissioner Frank Klein initiated the question. He cited the point that the zoning ordinance specifies that a drive-in theater must be more than 1000-feet from a residential area.

He submitted that the present theater, as well as the proposed third screen, was closer than 1000-feet to the mobile home park. However, Michael DiLeonardo, attorney for Syufy Enterprises, maintained that the mobile home park area was rezoned after the theater was started.

He also added that the theater came into the city via annexation as a result of an agreement with the city and that nothing about non-conforming uses was specified.

Already approved for the 6.7 acre parcel is a 244-unit apartment complex with the stipulation, however, that access must be obtained to a public street (Union Ave.) at no cost to the city.

One of the property owners, Ed Stojanovich, of 255 Union Ave., from which an access route could be acquired, has indicated through his attorney, Vincent C. Seveley of Palo Alto, that he would not dedicate or sell any portion of his land to provide access from the theater to Union Ave.

Syufy Enterprises have maintained that the apartment-complex will be built, if the access is obtained. However, if no access is available, then the third screen is basically the only possible way to go, they claim.

DiLeonardo also stated that he wants the entire issue to be decided at the same time. He indicated that his appeal to the Council of the Commission ruling specifying the access would be delayed until the other matters are settled.

In contrast to the third screen problem, the Planning Commission approved in short order the plans for K & K Mfg. Co. for an industrial building at 1500 Dell Ave. and for the Corinthian House, Inc., for a senior citizen (Christian Science) residential complex at 250 Budd Ave.

Editorial

Keep it elective

An interesting, although somewhat academic, question has been under discussion by the City Council recently pertaining to whether the position of city treasurer should be appointive rather than elective, as it now is.

When the city was incorporated in 1952, the posts of both city clerk and city treasurer were designated as elective positions of four-year terms each.

Therefore, if either position were to become appointive rather than elective, the voters would have to approve the change.

There has been a tendency in recent years for cities to go the appointive route for city treasurer, basically because there have been so many major changes in the organization and administration of cities that the so-called check and balance system, the original prime reason for having an elective position such as treasurer, has become slightly out-moded.

We mean, of course, that almost every city today now has an annual audit, which has the effect of checking upon the proper expenditure of public funds.

Campbell, in addition, has an efficient finance department that guides the general expenditure program of the city, plus a budget procedure that has a built-in protection for the citizens.

The financial administration of Campbell has become more complex over the years, making it necessary that the fiscal officer must be well qualified by training and experience to do the job.

What we are saying then, in effect, is that because of the complexities of a city's financial program, an experienced finance director is needed who is not selected on the basis of his vote-getting ability.

We are pointing this out to emphasize that the city treasurer of Campbell at the present time is not really the essential fiscal officer of the city.

By no stretch of the imagination, would we expect a city treasurer, who receives a $100 monthly stipend, to direct the financial affairs of a city totaling millions of dollars per year.

The question then that obviously follows is, why then have an elective city treasurer? or any city treasurer at all?

We agree that the picture has changed form the early days when it was felt that a city treasurer should be elected to serve as a check on the actions of the city council, particularly with regard to the expenditure of public funds.

But we still like the idea of voting for the city treasurer every four years.

And we believe that policy should be continued in Campbell.

We are always reluctant to give up the privilege of electing any public official.

By voting for a city treasurer, we think gives us all a feeling that we have more a voice in city government than otherwise would be the case.

We are well aware that just because a person is elected by the people does not mean that there will be no problems. Too many elected officials have proved how wrong that is.

More and more, however, the computer and the bureaucrat are conducting our governmental activities. More and more, the people's voice is not being heard.

We recognize that the people themselves by their apathy toward local government activities appear disinterested in how the government is operating. Unless, of course, they are affected personally.

We recognize that a strong case can be made for eliminating the job of an elected city treasurer.

We realize also that the city would be saving $100 per month.

Yet we are not convinced that efficiency should be the sole criteria when it comes to giving up the power to elect a city treasurer.

True, the duties of the office are limited.

But at the same time, we, the voters, still are having our say, even if it is on a very small scale.

And we just don't think we should give it up.

Granted that the people must decide at an election the matter of whether the city treasurer should be elected or appointed; we fail to see the necessity at this time, however, of submitting the measure to a vote.

We would want to continue to vote for the city treasurer.

come all of us have always thought it so unconventional for a gal to puff away on a pipe or cigar?

From what we have gathered in recent years, such nicotine activity is easier on one's physical welfare than cigarettes.

And come to think of it, personally, we would prefer to see a gal smoking a stogie or a pipe rather than in some of those hippie garbs that appear on some of the campuses.

But maybe we had better stop while we are ahead.

If we are, that is.

YOU KNOW SOMETHING, one of the reasons that we enjoy, to use the term loosely, turning out this trivia is that we are not confined or limited to any one particular field.

For example, we can comment on how far we think the Planning Commission or City Council is off-base; take on a subject as controversial as what books teen-agers should read or comment on the smoking habits of a junior college counselor and no one particularly takes exception to it.

As a matter of fact, after so many years of exposure, we find that the subjects can be as varied as life itself.

There are people, we have heard, who actually look forward to this column because they are not sure what is going to happen in it or to it.

We don't even know that.

It is a sort of escape valve.

Don't you sometimes wish you had one?

TAKE AS A FOR INSTANCE, we are extremely disappointed that Homer Hyde has decided not to run for reelection to the City Council come April. The rumor was officially confirmed this week.

For the record, we have observed in action every single mayor this city has ever had. There have been 10 of 'em.

It is our candid opinion, publicly expressed, that Homer has served more conscientiously and more efficiently than any mayor this city has ever had.

So, you see, we have just made nine enemies.

But we really are not worried on that score.

All of Homer's predecessors will probably agree with us that Hyde has worked harder at the job than they did.

Homer maintains that because of increased activity in his professional endeavors, he will not be able to devote the time to the city that he thinks it deserves.

So he is not going to run for reelection.

He feels that the job deserves more than he anticipates he will be able to devote to it.

That gives you an idea how seriously he's worked at it.

Of course, there are many people in town who will make good councilmen.

But just the same you always hate to see a good one get away.

LATEST VOTER REGISTRATION figures for Campbell indicate that the Democrats still hold the edge by almost a 1200-vote margin over the Republicans in town.

The total count for the city is listed at 8571 with DEMS having 4667 and the REPS 3476.

Although the registration has increased, naturally, over the years, the gap between Reps and Dems has remained always about the same, percentage-wise.

One time in the past, we recall only about 600 votes separated the two parties but that, of course, was when the total was far less.

The latest voter figures also revealed that there were 35 registered in the American Independence party and 13 in Peace and Freedom.

We also noted in passing. that seven of the 15 cities in the county (Cupertino, Los Altos, Los Altos Hills, Los Gatos, Monte Sereno, Palo Alto and Saratoga) have more REPS registered than DEMS.

In Campbell, according to our figuring, the Democrats represent 54% of the total registration and the Republicans have 40%. Countywide the Democrats have 52.4% and the Republicans 42.5%.

ANOTHER INTERESTING statistic we noted recently was that the first grade enrollment in the county schools has dropped this year for the first time since World War II.

According to the figures, there was a decrease of 30 in the Campbell district, or about 2%. Moreland lost 82 or 8% and Cambrian decreased 78 or 11%.

Several theories have been advanced for the decrease.

No comment.

JayCees sponsor meeting tonight to discuss community "alliance"

Representatives of approximately 20 Campbell service, civic and trade organizations have been invited to discuss the formation of the proposed Campbell Service Alliance this evening (Wednesday, Jan. 21) at the Chamber of Commerce office at 100 W.Rincon Ave.

Sponsored by the Campbell JayCees, the meeting is called for 8 p.m.

Mayor Homer Hyde is expected to be present and will explain the need of such a community council and offer the support of public officials in its formation.

According to Allan Blaine, vice-president of the JayCees, the purpose of the council would be to promote better communication among the participants and to avoid duplication of efforts as well as to cooperate in better serving the entire community.

JayCees explain also that Campbell is one of the many communities acting at the suggestion of Governor Ronald Reagan and supported by the California JayCees that are attempting to make community programs more effective throughout the state.

It is not the purpose of the Alliance, Blaine also adds, to deemphasize any of the projects of any of the participating groups. The objective will be to promote new endeavors and support continuing programs.

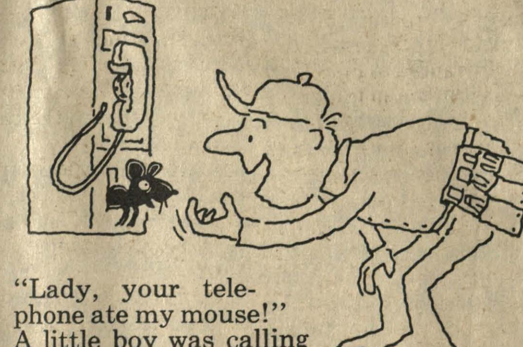
THE PHONE BOOTH



"Lady, your telephone ate my mouse!" A little boy was calling from a public telephone.

"My goodness, that's terrible," said Alberta Meeker of Newport Beach, sympathetically. During 40 years of answering requests for repair service, she had never received a call quite like this one. "How did it happen?"

The boy explained that he had closed his pet in the coin return chute, but the mouse had disappeared when he reopened the chute.

"Maybe it's just hiding," said Alberta, writing the order to dispatch a telephone repairman. Then, learning that the boy had to get home right away, she made arrangements so he could pick up the mouse later.

Alberta Meeker's logbook tells the end of the story: 4:15 p.m. Trouble found. Removed mouse and gave to barber next door. 4:20 p.m. Trouble cleared.

Answering a request to remove a mouse from a telephone is indeed unusual, but the story is another example of the patience and understanding of Telephone people who really mean it when they say, "We're here to help."

Take a look at the new Bell System symbol. It's a streamlined version of the familiar bell-in-a-circle design, but it's cleaner, bolder and stylized for more contemporary tastes.

The Question Box

Q Who do I call if I have a question about my telephone bill?

GO MOD is this year's slogan for the March of Dimes campaign and buttons with that slogan can be seen all over the Campbell campus as many of our students campaign to raise money for this cause. Campbell students could also be found last weekend giving up their time to collect money for the March of Dimes program at local shopping centers. Their help was much appreciated.

Coming up soon is another dance. This dance will be sponsored by Girls' Sports and will be held on Jan. 30. The band to play hasn't been chosen yet but an announcement of the band to play should come soon.

Now is the time for the seniors to start thinking about the dates they want for the senior ball on March 7. In about two weeks there will be preliminary sign-ups to see how many are interested in going to the ball. The number of people signing up will also determine the amount of the bid. So far Mrs. Parker has been disappointed in the seniors' spirit and as it stands now there isn't enough money to put on a good ball.

There will be a sneak day and that will cost approximately $1,000. The senior class has very little over that amount now and unless enough people show interest and sign up, there will be no ball. So get on the move and join a committee to do your part in planning for the ball. Sign up and show that you don't want this part of your senior year to be skipped.

Feb. 4 is the day for the seniors to order their graduation announcements. This is the one and only day for this so if you are going to be absent and want announcements send the money with a friend or you won't be getting any.

Class officer elections will be held on Jan. 27 so if you decide to run for an office you can pick up an application in your counselor's office.

If any one is planning to go on the European summer school this summer don't forget to get your application filled out and handed in. The deadline for registration is due prior to March 1.

Cal professor to lecture at WVC tonight

John Letiche, professor of economics at the University of California at Berkeley, will be the guest lecturer Jan. 21 at West Valley College during the college's foreign policy series.

Letiche agreed to speak at the Wednesday night forum when scheduled speaker Phillip Mosely, director of the European Institute at Columbia University, had to cancel his appearance. Mosely has entered a hospital in the East for throat surgery.

Letiche will speak on "The Challenge of the European Common Market" at 8 p.m. in the Campbell campus auditorium.

He has written four books in the area of economics and has acted as consultant for various industries and countries. In June of last year he consulted with President Nixon and Nixon's advisors including Daniel Moynihan, Lee DuBridge and Paul McCracken on the issues facing higher education in the United States.

Interested participants in the series are urged to register for the non-credit, non-graded class in the Office of Community Services, 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, room L-26.

Final speaker for the forum will be John K. Emmerson, scholar in residence at Stanford University and research fellow at Hoover Institution, who will speak Jan. 28 on "Japan and the United States in Pacific Asia."

Prospect Pulse

by IVALÈE INGRAHAM

Prospect's Varsity Basketball team dribbled and passed to win one game and lose one game last week. On Tuesday. they lost to the Blackford Braves by a close score of 44-38. Friday night, against Westmont, the team took the lead in the first seconds and kept it all the way, beating the Warriors 87-61. Prospect's record this season is now 2-1. Dave Knutson, John Jackson and Mike Bearden were Friday's highest scorers, with 19, 16 and 12 points, respectively.

Ski Club members are hoping that this Saturday will be the day for their long-awaited trip to Dodge Ridge. The trip was originally scheduled for Dec. 30, but was cancelled because there wasn't enough snow. Officers of the club rescheduled it for Jan. 17, but again it was postponed because of rain at Dodge Ridge.

The trip has been scheduled again for this Saturday. The price is $5 for any ski club member, $6 for a non-member. There will be about two buses of students going.

Prospect's PTA is holding a dance, "Daiquiri Ice" on Jan. 31. It will be from 8 to 11 in the cafetorium. Guests must sign up, and all students are welcome.

Fred Doman, a student at Prospect, was born in Hungary, and in 1956, when he was four, his family fled the country during the revolution. Fred remembers hiding in a truck with some other families. The truck took them to the free country of Austria, where they emigrated to America.

His unit provides tactical and administrative troop movements and handles general cargo and transportation for the brigade.

Westmont Whirl

By Linda Hall

Last Friday the Warrior soccer team out-played our Prospect rivals with a final score of 3-0.

With a hand penalty in the goal area, Senior Inaki Arredondo kicked to give the Warriors a head start over the Panthers, scoring the first goal.

Junior Larry Thurmond broke loose from a holding battle during the second quarter to kick the second point.

Facing a rival wall of the Panthers after a hand penalty outside the goal box, Senior Ed Boogaard kicked the ball into the butterfingers of the opposing goalie to score our final point.

Throughout the game, our defense had kept the ball out of our goal area allowing the offense more opportunities to score. Junior Glenn Martin repeatedly blocked Prospect from attempting to score.

It seems the teams confidence was Coach Wilkingson's final words to face Prospect as if it was practice.

1970 will bring new and different things for Junior Ruth Jones, because she is going to Australia. "It's not a foreign exchange program," remarked Ruth. "I'm going by myself."

She will attend Canterbury Girl's High School, which is located about eight miles out of Sydney. Some of the rules. as Ruth stated them were: "... no fingernail lacquer, no lip polish, no eye makeup. But I don't care, I don't wear make-up.

Ruth chose Australia because... "it is so different, unique." She says the climate, animals and land are different than anywhere else. She also said the language is the same so it won't be as hard. She will be living with some distant relatives.

Senior Robbie Piper has recently been appointed to the Campbell Youth Advisory Commission.

Looking through The Campbell Press, Robbie came across an article entitled "Youth Want to Get Involved". Interested in the youth of today, he sent a letter to City Chambers and in turn had an interview with City Councilman Ralph Doetsch, and Rusty Hammer and Karen Crawford from Del Mar.

Commenting on his first tour of the city as a council member, "I saw great sites of Campbell and even had a chance to slide down the fire poles, but the car I was riding in broke down."

Rincon Park, which now consists of a Pony League Baseball Field has been a major concern of these youths. Robbie hopes that more people would come to the meetings and suggest possible ideas--as thirty people's ideas are better than nine.

Meetings are open to the public and all are welcome.

Mrs. Fischer calls for March of Dimes volunteers

MOTHERS' MARCH
PREVENT BIRTH DEFECTS

MRS. P. L. FISCHER

Last minute plans are under way for the Mothers' March against birth defects scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 27, as recruiting goes on for team captains and marchers for the Campbell area.

Marchers need not be mothers—or even women, Mrs. P. L. Fischer, division chairman reminded. She has already lined up the Moreland Little League senior division, Campbell Rainbow Girls Assembly 235, Campbell DeMolay, and two groups of Job's Daughters, Bethel 298 and 174.

"We are very gratified with the way volunteers have responded when we have asked for them to serve as captains and marchers, but we could use many more," said Mrs. Fischer, whose division is one of the largest in the county. "The more marchers we have, the better support we supply for the battle against birth defects as carried on by The National Foundation."

Volunteers should call her at 378-1077 or the Mothers' March headquarters, 292-3122.

Each Marcher on Tuesday will be carrying a Mothers' March kit—a white, blue and green envelope on which appears Marty Mim Mack of Santa Clara, the national poster boy for the 1970 March of Dimes. Each contributor will receive a receipt for tax purposes and a small brochure explaining the program of The National Foundation - March of Dimes.

West Valley College trustees appoint three division heads

Appointments to three division chairman positions were made by trustees of West Valley College Thursday night.

Melvin Tuscher was appointed to head the math-science division; Robert Fricke to the social science division; and Bert Hermosillo was named head of the humanities and fine arts division.

The terms of the present incumbents, Kenneth Jewell, humanities and fine arts; DeBoyd Smith, science and mathematics; and Richard Hayden, social sciences, expire at the end of the current semester. None were candidates to succeed themselves. DeBoyd Smith has recently been named assistant to the president. Fricke had previously held that position from 1966 to 1968.

Fricke and Tuscher joined the college staff when it first opened in the fall of 1964. Hermosillo came to the college in the fall of 1968. The new appointments will become effective at the beginning of the spring semester.

In other action Thursday night, the board:

Amended an earlier agreement with San Jose City College insuring the joint use of facilities by students in each district only when some buildings are constructed on the Evergreen site in the San Jose district and the Mission College campus in the West Valley district.

The amendment provides for a specific guarantee by each district that it will accept at that time no fewer than 20 per cent of its total student body from students who reside in the other district.

Paid financial claims totaling $205,533.35.

Authorized renewal of leases currently held on three houses on the Saratoga campus on a three-month basis.

Authorized the district to buy five additional automobiles through the state of California at an approximate cost of $11,750.

Established a schedule requesting the state of California to pay West Valley College its $769,854 share of the construction cost of the language arts-social science building in fourteen monthly payments of $55,000 each.

SOME BUILD - SOME DESTROY---Vandalism is very apparent at the Campbell-Moreland Pony League baseball diamond at the Rincon Park site. Over the past few days several hundred dollars worth of destruction was done to the fencing and snack shop. Above John Bojarquez inspects the back of the snack shop while Rich Barry checks out the torn fence. The work on the ball field was nearly all contributed by interested parents who wanted their sons to have a place to play ball.

United Technology to test-fire rocket motor

A powerful solid-propellant rocket motor will be test-fired for the Air Force on Saturday morning, Jan. 31, by United Technology Center, according to Barnet R. Adelman, UTC division president.

The test will be the second for the huge seven-segment rocket to be conducted at UTC's Development, Test, and Production Center at Coyote. Standing 101-feet-tall, the rocket will be fired in a nose-down, nozzle-up position and will produce 1.4 million pounds of thrust during its 2-minute firing time.

A motor similar to the one to be tested was successfully test-fired last spring. UTC builds a five-segment, 1.2 million pound thrust version of this motor which is flown in pairs as the booster stage of the Air Force Titan III-C space vehicle.

UTC, a division of United Aircraft Corporation, is engaged in research, development, and production of rockets, rocket propellants, and advanced propulsion systems.

WITH 1ST DIVISION

Army Private First Class Clifford E. Hewitt, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. Hewitt Jr., 1110 Arroyo Seco Dr., Campbell, was recently assigned to the 1st Infantry Division in Vietnam as a reconnaissance specialist.

MOLES

Unless disturbed, moles rarely come above ground.

VANDALISM TO BOXES---Out of the approximate 100 mail boxes located on San Tomas Aquino Road, between Rolling Hills Shopping Center and San Tomas Shopping Center, approximately three-fourths have already lost their little red flags used to signal the mailman that mail is waiting for a pick-up. The flags have been twisted off, apparently in the early morning hours. In the group of eight boxes seen above, only two still have their signal flags. One resident, Joel Butler at 1113 S. San Tomas is so provoked at the destruction of the boxes that he is offering a $10 reward for anyone seeing the culprit in the act.

Wide-eyed in Washington

By Mason Sacks

Information, Please!

By Mason Sacks

One of the most highly valued commodities in Washington is "information". Members of Congress look to the White House for information, and the White House seeks information from such sources as the State Department and the Federal Trade Commission.

Yet agencies and departments such as these often depend on both members of Congress and the President for information about the current politicario which is vital to their operations. What all of this means is that "information" is so voluminous in Washington that nearly every agency and office is simultaneously supplying and seeking information to and from nearly every other agency and office.

Thus, when I was walking down Pennsylvania Ave. the other day and saw a building called the "United States Information Agency," I was very much surprised. With the great plethora of information in Washington, I wondered how one organization could presume to be the one main source, and thus to call itself THE United States Information Agency. A little investigation was definitely in order.

My first step was to look up the organization in the United States Government Organization Manual, an invaluable guide for the person who is trying to find his way through the bureaucratic jungles of Washington. From this book I learned that the United States Information Agency (U.S.I.A.) was formed by Executive Order in 1953 and that it was instructed to deal in the field of international information.

This, however, did not explain everything. After all, what does it mean to "deal in the field of international information"? I decided to personally contact the U.S.I.A. and find out.

It was difficult to get to speak with a representative of the organization at first, but I finally was able to speak with one of the executive officers of the U.S.I.A. From him I learned that the primary purpose of the U.S.I.A. is to "tell America's story to the world".

This telling mission, so to speak, is accomplished by use of various techniques of communication-personal contact, radio, broadcasting, book publication and distribution, press, motion pictures, television, exhibits and English-language instruction.

"In a nutshell," said the officer, "we're the cultural and propaganda arm of the American government. We have a good deal of information, but it is disseminated only in foreign countries. The U.S.I.A. has posts in 120 locations around the world, each of which handles the information distribution for that one particular country. The overseas posts, by the way, are located in most cases in the American Embassy of that country."

"It's obvious," continued the U.S.I.A. officer, "that we try to present the United States in as favorable light as possible. After all, that's our whole job. But this is not to say that we state falsehoods or even that we present just one side of an issue. We report the entire picture, even if parts might not make us look so good. We are confident that if the whole story is told, we will, in the long run, come out all right."

Pioneer District To Hold Annual District Dinner

Dr. Joseph A. Evers, Pioneer District Chairman of the Boy Scouts of America, has appointed M. H. "Bud" Brown of Cambrian Park, dinner chairman for the Annual District Dinner, to be held on Monday, Feb. 2, at Camden High School.

"The Pioneer District, which serves 4,500 boys in the Scouting Program in the Campbell-Cambrian Park areas, will take this opportunity to recognize all those people who are actively working in Scouting," states Dr. Evers, a prominent gynecologist in Cambrian Park.

"We want to thank them for the job well done during the past year."

M. H. "Bud" Brown, dinner chairman, has appointed the following people to his committee: Mrs. Bruce (Judy) Christenson, district hospitality chairlady; Ken Mathison, program chairman and Wes Williams, arrangements chairman.

Americans spend more on dog food than on baby food - over $500 million a year. They also pay $700 million for the dogs themselves; $150 million for dog licenses; $150 million for shots; $600 million for veterinary fees; and $400 million for other sundries.

Girl Scouts

NEIGHBORHOOD NO. 17

Adult Leaders

Mrs. Richard Crapo was named Neighborhood No. 17 Cookie Chairman at the first meeting of the Girl Scout adults in the Neighborhood, held recently with Mrs. Frank Millich, leader of troop No. 131, serving as hostess.

Mrs. F. H. Clough, service team member and junior leader, explained the simplified registration forms each leader must have ready by March 1.

During the meeting Mrs. Ken Labrovich, Mrs. Tom Flanagan and Mrs. W. E. Kahn were chosen to represent Neighborhood 17 at the March Council meeting. Sharing handicraft ideas with other leaders were Mrs. W. W. Leach, Brownie consultant, and Mrs. C. T. Mahler, troop organizer and leader.

Camperships were discussed briefly and an appeal was made for a permanent Neighborhood Chairman.

The next meeting will be held February 10 at 9:30 a.m. at 400 W. Campbell Ave.

Troop 158

Girl Scout Brownie Troop 158, from Dover School, used the pre-Christmas good weather to spread holiday spirit and gifts to several Campbell residents. Traditional carols were sung at each home, then with added "giving" emphasis, the girls presented handmade gold Christmas trees to each family.

Troop members are Rhonda Dippolito, Debbie Eberly, Diane Gordon, Patti Hover, Allison Jones, Terri Puentes, Lorna Pusateri, Shelley Rossman, Susan Russell, Lori Shelton, Darlene Torigoe, Karen Weil, Judy Wilburn and Lisa Yarrington. Co-Leaders are Mesdames Kenji Torigoe and Robert Wilburn.

CAROLERS

Other holiday activities for Neighborhood 17 Girl Scouts included: Members of Troops 777, 853, 465, 166, 422 and 840 each made gifts Leather purses, coffee mugs, wooden plaques, wrapping paper and fudge cans were given to family members.

Brownie Troop 853 went one step farther by assembling a "thank-you" book for their Sister Troop 669. Each page was designed by a different member who illustrated her personal thank you for assistance given by her big sister Scout during 1969.

Junior Troop 603 planned layette packages to a Vietnam hospital as a "far-reaching" goodwill gesture; and Troop 422 caroled at a local hospital and at Saratoga Mall.

Park sites to be considered at meeting

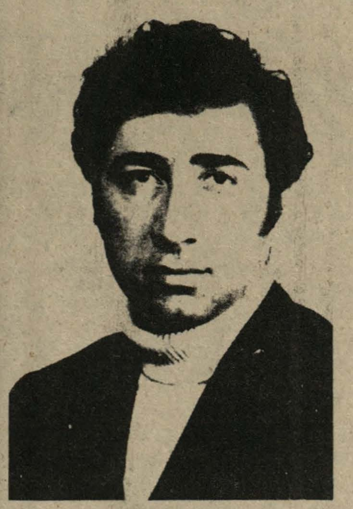
Beautification of the San Tomas Creek around Pollard Road and the Los Gatos Creek area, will both be the subjects of conversation at the Thursday, Jan. 22 meeting of the Campbell Beautification meeting.

Hiking trails, picnic tables and park usages are being discussed for both areas, and hopefully some improvement can be made in the Los Gatos creek which was "ditched" in a flood control effort several years ago. The meeting is open to the public and interested citizens are invited to attend.

Also on the agenda will be election of officers and possibly a report on the local committee entry into the National Clean-Up Bureau contest. A report will be made on plantings around the Campbell JayCees sign project on Hamilton Ave.

The meeting will be held in the Campbell City Council Hall at 8 p.m.

Wedding Date Set



MOHAMMAD ALI RASTEGAR

Mr. and Mrs. Miles A. Standish of 61 Virginia Ave. announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothea, to Mohammad Ali Rastegar.

Dorothea attended Campbell elementary schools and was graduated from Campbell High School in 1966.

Ali, as he is called by his friends, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Abdolkhalegh Rastegar of Shiraz, Iran. He has been in the United States for four years. Both young people are attending schools in the Bay Area.

Dorothea is a dramatic art major at the University of California, Berkeley, and will receive her Bachelor of Arts degree in the spring, while Ali is studying at Merritt College in Oakland. He is also employed at Oliver Imported Cars as a diagnostician and mechanic.

The wedding date has been set for June 27 at the Congregational Church of Campbell. The couple are planning to reside in Berkeley.

DOROTHEA STANDISH

HOSPITALS AREN'T ALL BAD---Mrs. Beverly Beardsworth, nurse at the Los Gatos-Saratoga Community Hospital, guides the afternoon class of the Campbell Parents' Nursery School through the pediatrics playroom.

Miss Teenage Citizen contest opens for girls

In order to recognize an outstanding local teen-ager, the Youth Committee of the San Jose Junior Woman's Club is currently sponsoring a "Miss Teenage Citizen" contest, open to Campbell and San Jose high school senior girls.

Each entrant must submit an essay stating her school, church and community activities, whether she works, and what her future plans are. Maintaining a B grade level average for eligibility, she must submit a record of her grades and have a maximum of five persons, such as a counselor, principal, minister, or employer, rate her leadership, ethics and relationships with others.

The local winner will be awarded a $25 savings bond, and her essay will be submitted for further competition. The state winner will receive a $100 award.

Deadline for entries is Feb. 1. Students may obtain complete rules and applications from their school guidance counselors.

INDIANS

There have been more than one hundred distinct tribes or groups of Indians in California, each having a different language or dialect.

Children enjoy hospital tour

Children attending the Campbell Parents' Nursery School shouldn't be afraid of ever having to go to the hospital for possible tonsillectomies or broken bones.

Recently the children were conducted through the Los Gatos - Saratoga Community Hospital on a tour designed to alleviate any doubts the children might have about hospitals. A movie "A Nice Place To Visit", showed them all about staying in a hospital, after which they were taken on a walking tour of the facilities.

Conducting the morning group was Maxine Grough, Ward Clerk on Medical 1, while the afternoon children were guided by Mrs. Beverly Beardsworth. One of the highlights of the tour was a peek through the nursery window where they saw brand new babies. They were also shown through the x-ray lab, the pediatrics ward and the emergency entrance. In the children's ward they visited the playroom and were shown what a hospital bed looked like.

Concluding the visit was the presentation to each child of a lollipop.

DESERT "Y" TRIP

A Washington's birthday weekend desert tour to Las Vegas and Palm Springs is being planned by Y's Travelers, San Jose YWCA-sponsored travel group for men and women, and reservations are now open. Dates are Feb. 19-23.

Details are available from the San Jose YWCA, 210 S. Second St., San Jose, phone 292-1075.

Police spend quiet week

Campbell police had a relatively quiet week with only minor crimes, domestic problems and a few car cloutings being reported. Doric Manufacturing, 226 Railway, lost an adding machine valued at $65 when the door to the establishment was kicked in. Nothing else of value was taken from the building.

A possible burglary at Rose's TV, 376 N. Central Ave., was prevented when the would-be thief failed to dislodge the bar across the door.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

According to Senator Daniel K. Inouye (D-Hawaii), Chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, the growing burdens of financing a campaign for Congress are leading to the emergence of political elite and a "new aristocracy of wealth and power."

Anyone associated with political campaigns knows that rapidly increasing costs lend credibility to the fears of Senator Inouye. When I first ran for the State Assembly in 1950, $5,000 was considered an ample expenditure for a good campaign. Today at least four times that amount is required. It is not unusual for a Congressional campaign committee to spend as much as $250,000. Most spend more than $100,000.

This column usually takes up about 20 column inches in your newspaper. If it were run as a paid political ad in a large daily, it would cost approximately $220. To run the ad in every paper of the 10th District would cost about $500.

A 10-second "spot" on TV prime time costs more than $100, plus the cost of preparing the film or tape. Radio announcements, which cost as little as $1 in 1950 now cost $10-12. This is why a record $58.9 million was spent for political broadcasting in the 1968 election campaign.

Herbert Alexander, Director of the Citizens Research Foundation of Princeton, N. J estimates that $100 million was spent to elect the President in 1968. The estimate includes the preconvention expenses of all candidates for Presidential nomination, as well as the cost of the conventions to the major parties and their delegates.

Reports of campaign expenditures filed under the terms of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act showed a 47 percent increase over the previous high in 1964. However, because the federal law applies only to candidates and not committees, the actual costs ran much higher than the $70.1 million reported.

For example, seven Senators, including Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), George McGovern (R-S.D.), and Alan Cranston (D-Calif.) reported their 1968 campaign costs as "None". So a conservative estimate of total expenditure could go as high as one-half billion dollars.

Something should be done to make it possible for a man of ordinary means to become a candidate and avoid creating a political "aristocracy". I would favor a limited tax deduction of perhaps $25 for contributions to individual campaigns. The result would be that campaigns would be financed by more people of limited means.

The time has also come for a penetrating review of the laws concerning the financing of campaigns. In addition to tax deduction, some means must be found to reasonably limit expenditures and require reporting by candidates as well as committees. In addition, federally licensed television stations should be barred from charging higher rates for political announcements than for commercial advertising.

Like the weather, campaign financing is a subject which is discussed at great length and little is done about it. It is time this situation were changed.

THE SMILING MEDUA, by Jean Muir. M

Until her Greek grandfather had died and left her the elegant old family mansion on the Aegean island of Hydra, Suzy Benson had worked in a dull office in Kansas City, then she moved into a strange new world, romantic, yet sinister. On the day of her arrival, a man was murdered and in his pocket was a piece of paper with her name on it. As the frenzy and hate of the ancient Greek legends were repeated in modern guise, the threat to Suzy came closer. This romantic suspense novel will hold the reader breathless to the last page.

NEW CYCLE CENTER TAKING SHAPE---Workmen this week were rushing construction on the new Wheel-Away Cycle Center building to meet a Feb. 1 opening day target. The building, located at the corner of Hamilton and Harrison Ave. will be one of the most modern and attractive bicycle centers in Northern California.

The building, as seen above is now ready for the brick facing and the all-glass front showroom area. When completed there will be a total floor space of 8,500 feet on two floors. The parking area in front will accommodate up to 24 cars at a time. Bill Paul, founder and owner of the Wheel-Away Cycle Center on Winchester Blvd., later acquired the Campbell Cycle Center on Campbell Ave. at San Tomas.

The two cycle centers will be combined under the name of "Wheel-Away Cycle Center", with the combined staffs of both stores moving to the new building in February.

Pupils air ideas about how to better their schools

If you want to find out what to do–ask the kids!

Recently 19 Campbell elementary school district principals and 19 of their students all met for lunch, with the idea of exchanging ideas about how their individual schools could be made more beautiful, and at the same time cut down school vandalism.

Those kids didn't waste any time telling the adults about what they wanted–all the way from getting rid of the mudholes to putting benches around trees where the children could sit and have "outdoor classroom".

Each child was introduced at the luncheon meeting held at Rolling Hills School, and asked how their school could be made more attractive.

One of the students from Parkway School, John Magannam, 6th grade student, came prepared with slides showing the "work area" and an unused backstop which he would like to see removed and the area planted with grass. A pathway was needed going out to the grass area, and he specified that benches should be set in concrete which could be used by the children. All of this work was ably outlined with the use of sketches.

Other ideas advanced by the various students were shrubs and trees, more trash pick-ups, locker painting, benches in corridors, ivy on fences, painted garbage cans, walkways extended and more grass.

The idea of an outdoor classroom as advanced by Mark Jennings, Capri School principal, was very well received.

He outlined a small area of from one-third to one acre that could be set aside as a conservation project. The children would participate in the planting of various trees and shrubs which would later serve the dual purpose of an instructional classroom on how living things grow and also a lunchroom which children could use. A nature walkway was also visualized by Jennings.

Quito School immediately took up the project idea and announced that they had three undeveloped acres, with plans for a full-fledged park, but since they were within the San Jose City limits, no funds were available for the project.

Other clean-up projects were outlined by the students including the "Project Pride"–a gold garbage can given to the class having the cleanest campus clean-up at Cypress, and the Happy Faces project at Campbell Elementary. At that school a "Happy Face" is placed for each clean campus day, and after 10 such awards the students get to choose an extra free activity.

The meeting was directed by Marsha Well, Campbell Union School art coordinator, who showed slides of the mosaics completed last year by Forest Hill and San Tomas schools.

Guests present at the meeting included officials from the city of Campbell, Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. Jeanette Watson, chairman of the Campbell Citizens for Beautification.

Billy Jones RR gets turntable

A turntable, which is the largest single equipment contributed to date, will be installed by sponsors of the Billy Jones Wildcat Railroad this Saturday, Jan. 24, at 11 a.m. in Oak Meadow Park in Los Gatos.

Myron Alexander, Campbell realtor and a director of the local CofC, and also a director of the Billy Jones Wildcat Railroad, said that the turntable is a gift of Edward Stirm, of Peninsula Products & Equipment Co. It will be delivered and placed in position for the railroad by Jack McDonald, general manager of Cal Coast Van and Storage, Los Gatos.

Alexander, who adds that many Campbell residents are volunteers of the railroad project, said that the public is invited to attend the installation on Saturday and to meet and talk with the railroad officials. Refreshments will be served.

Billy Jones Railroad, a small-scale operation geared for kids, was located on Daves Ave. for many years. It became one of the most popular spots for youngsters in the county.

When the railroad was closed down, a group of volunteers organized to save it and transfer it to the park in Los Gatos. Their efforts have been successful and the small-scale railroad is expected to be in full operation shortly.

But Alexander emphasizes that volunteers of both manpower and money are still needed.

Hank Santoro plans to seek office of county supervisor

A Campbell dairy drive-in owner has announced his candidacy for the post of Supervisor, fourth district.

Henry James (Hank) Santoro, 43, of 900 San Tomas Aquino Rd., Campbell, has reported he will seek the seat now held by Supervisor Ralph H. Mehrkens.

"I believe the most vital issues will be the need for tighter budget controls on spending and more vigorous representation for the district," Santoro said.

Santoro has been in business in Campbell since 1965 and a resident of the Santa Clara Valley since his discharge from the U.S. Coast Guard in 1946.

"I believe the complicated business of running a multi-million dollar county government requires someone with a successful business background," said Santoro.

Santoro began in the dairy business shortly after his discharge from the Coast Guard and worked for many major name organizations as well as for himself.

In 1960, he became associated in Salinas with the late Assemblyman Alan Pattee (R-Salinas).

Santoro has been active in youth work in the Campbell area, having sponsored the Quito Little League team last year and added the Campbell Pirates to the league this year.

Santoro is an active member of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce and Masonic Lodge.

Santoro is the first challenger to announce his candidacy to represent the district that includes Santa Clara, Campbell and Saratoga.
